'South Pacific' Wins Pulitzer Award As Best American Play

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP)—"South Pacific," the smash hit Broadway musical, won the 1950 Pulitzer prize yesterday as the best original American play of the past year.

The drama award was one of 13 similar honors handed down by the prize committee for achievement in newspaper work, letters and music.

The prizes were announced by President Dwight D. Eisenhower of Columbia University.

"South Pacific," the latest success of composer Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II, is an adaptation of James A. Michener's book "Tales of the South Pacific," which won a Pulitzer prize of its own for fiction in 1948.

The Rodgers-and-Hammerstein team received a special Pulitzer award, but no prize for their earlier musical hit, "Oklahoma," in 1944.

The 1950 prize for fiction went to A. B. Guthrie for his best-selling historical novel, "The Way West."

The prize for meritorious public service by a newspaper was split this year between The Chicago Daily News and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch for their joint stories revealing the presence of 51 Illinois newspapermen on the state payroll.

The articles were written by George Theim and Roy J. Harris. The prize for the newspaper is a gold medal instead of cash.

Big 3 Unity On Germany Sought

Will Be Object Of U. S. At Conferences

WASHINGTON, May 2—(INS)—The Senate's foreign policy leader said today he assumed Germany may qualify eventually for admission to the North Atlantic Pact.

Senate foreign relations Chairman Connally (D) of Texas told a reporter that American-British-French unity on Germany was one of State Secretary Acheson's objects in this month's conference of the "Big Three" foreign ministers.

Secy. Acheson gave the Senate foreign relations committee an outline Monday of cold war issues he intends to explore at the conference and at the London meeting of Atlantic Pact foreign ministers.

Sen. Connally said the idea is to have Germany work with the Atlantic democracies. Asked if this involved bringing Germany into the 12-nation alliance, Connally replied:

"No, the purpose would be to have Germany work with these countries."

The Texan was asked if ultimately the question of Germany's inclusion in the alliance would come up. He replied:

"I expect so."

Other congressional sources said that "in view of the Russian menace, Secy. Acheson will strive in London and Paris conferences to achieve a plan for meshing the economic resources of the Pact countries to the end that a consistent military defense system can be worked out."

Plans were formulated for a city-wide religious canvass when members of the Salem Ministerial Association met Monday morning in the public library assembly room.

Tentative plans also were made to secure a preaching mission speaker of national note for the summer or fall activity in conjunction with Salem's effort to cooperate with the National Evangelistic Crusade.

A bill of $200 against the A. M. E. Zion church has been paid off by the association, which voted in favor of the Historical Society's plan to save the old City Hall as a museum.

A suitable plaque in recognition of its victory in the season's play will be awarded the Baptist Church championship basketball team by the association. Again this summer the association will sponsor a baseball or softball league for grade school students.

The next meeting will be June 5.

Lattimore Plays McCarthy As "Clearly A Bad Policy Risk"

Good Weather May Help Vote Total; Interest Slim

COLUMBUS, May 2—(AP)—The weather man predicted fairly good voting weather today for Ohio's primary election in which candidates will be nominated for U. S. Senator, governor, and 23 congressional seats.

Election officials predicted the total vote will come to between 700,000 and 800,000.

The voters also will select other state officials, judges, and state legislators. They will go to the state's 9,736 polling places between 7:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The contest to select a Democrat candidate to oppose U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) in the November election has captured national attention.

Taft, co-author of the controversial Taft-Hartley labor law, has no opposition in today's voting. However, late last year and early in 1950 he visited all of Ohio's 88 counties in his report to the people travels.

Leading candidates in the Democratic senatorial race are regarded as State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and Mayor Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo.

Ohio State Federation of Labor officials said in Columbus only

Atlantic Pact Increase Seen

Officials Predict More Money, Effort

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—Informed officials predicted today that the North Atlantic nations will agree to spend more money and effort on their defenses.

They said a close-up look at the price tags on the master defense plan drafted earlier shows higher spending is needed.

Secretary of State Acheson is reported ready to urge quick action on an intensified defense program at the 12-nation Atlantic Council meeting in London May 5—even if it means Europeans must increase their defense budgets.

Acheson believes, these officials said, that a stepped-up effort in the military field is absolutely necessary to put into effect the integrated defense plan worked out April 1 by the 12 defense ministers at The Hague.

The 12 treaty nations spent a total of $20,147,000,000 last year in their collective defense effort. The United States carried about 72 per cent of this financial load.

American officials are convinced that the Europeans must bear a greater share of the cost of any proposed increase.

President Truman already has announced he will ask Congress for a total of $1,147,000,000 for a second year of military aid. Officials said it is unlikely the President will increase this amount during the next fiscal year.

$79,032 Paid To 734 Jobless Here In March

A weekly average of 734 unemployed workers in the Salem area received $79,032.50 in unemployment compensation during March, Arthur S. Johnston, manager of the local Bureau of Unemployment Compensation Office, said today.

Payments went to claimants drawing benefits under the Ohio law and veterans eligible for servicemen's readjustment allowances under the federal G. I. Bill of Rights.

Claimants drawing benefits under state law received a total of $77,010.50. Of this amount $4,587.50 was in dependency allowances received by claimants who were eligible for such payments.

Under the revised Ohio law unemployment compensation claimants may draw $2.50 a week for each child under 18 years of age but may not claim more than two dependents, Johnston explained. The March unemployment compensation payments brought the total benefits paid through the Salem BUC office since January to $234,550.00. The average weekly check paid to claimants in March was $23.36.

The Warren Music Club was organized 40 years ago to encourage young musicians in the Trumbull county area. Each year they award a scholarship for advanced music to an outstanding student in the county. The choral group, also directed by Dr. Scheig, is composed of members of the club.

The concert to be held in Salem by the combined groups is a repeat performance of one held in Warren early in April.

GOP Totals Down In City Voting

Democratic Vote About Same As 1948 Noon Figures

Republican party interest in today's primary elections appeared to show a marked decrease in Salem, according to the noon vote figures. Compared with the last gubernatorial primary in 1948, Salem counted 57 fewer GOP voters today.

In all, 255 Republicans had voted by noon today, while 312 went to the polls in a similar period in 1948.

The Democratic party vote was almost identical. Seventy votes were cast in 1948, and there were 72 by noon today.

Perry township's two voting precincts also followed the trend.

There were 32 Republican votes at noon today and only two Democratic ballots—a decrease of six for the GOP and one of three for the Democrats from 1948.

Decreases in the Republican vote were noted in nine of the city's 14 precincts. Slight increases were reported in the other five. The Democratic vote was almost the same in all precincts, compared with 1948, excepting for first ward, which showed 23 voters today. In 1948 the ward had only 16 out.

Voters had an excellent day, perhaps the best weather of a dreary spring, to go to the polls. Predictions in most quarters indicated that the voters would continue to turn out steadily all day.

The total vote in May, 1948 was 1,881, including Perry township.

3 Vehicles Damaged In Route 62 Mishap

Three cars and a truck were heavily damaged but no one was hurt in two highway accidents near Salem last night.

State patrolmen said the car driven by Jack J. Bolash, 39, of Sebring, was almost demolished at 10:20 p. m. Monday on Route 62 in Damascus when the car driven by Harold G. Wimer, 26, of 1500 N. Ellsworth ave. pulled off a side street in front of him.

The left front and left side of the Wimer car were damaged. He was arrested by patrolmen for failure to yield the right of way.

Truck, Car Collide

At 1 a. m. today on Route 14, two miles north of Salem, Donald H. Lang, 39, of Capac, Mich., pulled his truck-trailer from the east side of the highway to head south and was struck by a car driven by Tony Lushes, 29, of Akron who was headed north. The left side of the trailer and the left side of Lushes' car were damaged.

Lang was arrested by state patrolmen for failure to yield the right of way and was fined $50 and costs by Mayor Lloyd Culler of Washingtonville.

Denies Red Tinge Again; Says Budenz Is 'Plain Liar'

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—Owen Lattimore declared under oath today that charges he was a Communist and Russia's top spy "are not supported by a shred of evidence, perjured or otherwise."

Lattimore called Senator McCarthy, his chief accuser, "clearly a bad policy risk" and tore into the Wisconsin Republican's background. He alluded to official criticism of McCarthy's conduct as a state judge and asserted difficulties over wartime income tax returns.

As for ex-Communist Louis Budenz—who swore high Communist officials regarded Lattimore as a Communist—Lattimore termed him a liar—"either a plain old-fashioned liar or a pathological liar."

Of Freda Utley, who said only yesterday that if Lattimore isn't a Communist, he acts like one, the witness said: "An equally strong case can be made that Utley herself for a time followed the Communist line long after she says that she ceased to be a Communist, and that she subsequently followed the Nazi line."

Lattimore, far Eastern affairs expert and Johns Hopkins University professor, hit back in sworn testimony to the Senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating McCarthy's charges that the State Department is harboring a lot of Communists and Red sympathizers.

It was Lattimore's second trip to the witness stand and he said again:

"I have never been a member of the Communist party, or subscribed to a conspiracy to overthrow and subvert established government."

When Lattimore testified the first time, on April 6, it was to deny as "contemptible lies" McCarthy's charge that he is Russia's No. 1 espionage agent in this country.

Also at that time, Lattimore challenged McCarthy to produce any witness who would swear he was a Communist.

McCarthy turned up with Budenz, who was managing editor of the Daily Worker until he renounced Communism in 1945. Budenz swore he had been told that Lattimore was a member of a Communist cell, and that the party leaders had disciplinary power over him.

Referring to Budenz today, Lattimore told the committee: "The screen of lies behind which he disguised his lack of information is very thin, indeed."

In terms McCarthy a bad policy risk, Lattimore turned back on the Senator a phrase which McCarthy had applied to Lattimore. Then he added:

"I do not of course enjoy being vilified by anybody. Even by a motley crew of crackpots, professional informers, hysterics and ex-Communists who McCarthy would have you believe represent sound Americanism."

"My life and works speak for themselves. Unlike McCarthy I have never been charged with a violation of the laws of the United States or the ethics of my profession."

"I have never been accused, as McCarthy has been, of income tax evasion, of the destruction of records that were in my official custody, or of improperly using an official position for the purpose of advancing my own fortunes, political or otherwise."

After a call at the White House last week, Publisher William T. Evjue of the Madison, Wis., Capital Times, told newsmen he had given President Truman a report on McCarthy's "background," including:

1. A recommendation by the Wisconsin state board of bar commissioners that McCarthy be disbarred because he did not resign his state circuit judgeship while running for the Senate in 1946. The State Supreme Court took note of the recommendation but nothing came of it.

2. An order by state authorities that McCarthy pay $3,500 in state income taxes on $43,000 of 1943 income which Evjue said McCarthy did not report.

3. A sharp criticism of McCarthy by the Wisconsin Supreme Turn to LATTIMORE, Page 14

Youth Favors Courses On Marriage, Work

COLUMBUS, May 2—(AP)—A group of 200 young Ohioans are on record as favoring high school courses featuring marriage problems and more help in landing jobs.

Those are two of the numerous recommendations approved at a statewide youth meeting here yesterday. The ideas will be turned over to the Ohio Commission on Children and Youth which, in turn, will present them at a White House conference in December.

The meeting was called by seven youth members of the commission, headed by Albert Henderson of Piqua.

The White House conference is held every 10 years to study special problems of children and youth. Out of previous conferences has come legislation setting up the national childrens bureau and child labor laws.

Also recommended by the young people from 60 counties were:

A greater part in making decisions at school, "family nights" so all members could get together at home, sending of "educational and evangelical missionaries" to countries under Communist influence, and local, state, and national legislation on fair employment practices.

Youth representatives on the commission include Philip Shober of McCutchensville, Mollie Nelson of Columbus, Blair Porteus of Coshocton, Margaret Titus of Granville, Joan Rankin of Cin-

The Mosinee Incident

JUST WHAT, if anything, was proved by the fake Communist seizure of Mosinee, Wis., is vague. It's a good guess that the residents of the town itself are uncertain.

If this sort of things is going to be a favorite stunt for live-wire civic organizations interested in dramatizing the danger of revolution from within, a few improvements suggest themselves right off the bat.

First, the dramatization of seizure by revolutionists should be followed up by a dramatized version of seizure by counter revolutionists. In the United States there is no likelihood that the citizens of any community would lie down and roll over merely because a handful of revolutionists had moved into the City Hall. Possession of weapons always has been a jealously-guarded privilege in America. Millions of hunters go into the field each year to practice marksmanship on wildlife wouldn't hesitate to proclaim an open season on bully boys.

Second—and this may sound like a groundless fear—such dramatizations should be home-talent shows exclusively. The Mosinee incident featured the presence of a pair of converted Communists who were supposed to be authorities on what and how the job would be done if it ever were done seriously. One wonders sometimes what a converted Communist is. What assurance is there that he may not reconvert at some later date?

Humanizing The Machine Age

A Buick recently put into operation by the Buick division of General Motors may loom as large in the history of the industrial era as Henry Ford's development of the standardized automobile.

Buick's gadget makes it possible to "dendardize" what has been standardized. It is an electric-brain device capable of sorting out some 14,000 design combinations to meet every conceivable desire of a customer. By eliminating what would be an impossible clerical task in preparing orders and figuring costs, the machine offers an escape from the over-standardization which seems to many to be a potential blight on mass production.

What it means to Buick is that 14,000 automobiles, each different from the other in some detail, could be produced within the limits of the manufacturer's productive resources. Though they would be substantially the same, no two would need to be exactly alike. The significant thing about the development is that the potentialities to diversification already were present but could not be realized because no system of manual order-filing and bookkeeping could handle so complicated an assignment. It finally took a machine to deal with the consequences of the machine age.

Mute, But Damning, Testimony

FROM the moment the Russians announced they had fired upon an American plane "over Latvia" there was little doubt in U.S. minds that the craft had been callously shot down. Our official note to the Soviet Union so charged.

We could not have foreseen, however, that so much circumstantial evidence would be collected in support of that charge. Altogether, the Baltic has yielded up two rubber life rafts, a small boat, a wooden block, a metal can of rescue flares and now a 375-pound airplane wheel assembly.

The link with the missing plane seems strong. One of the rafts and the wheel assembly bore holes which suggest that the plane had been riddled with bullets. The raft also was blackened, apparently by fire. The wheel assembly was picked up by a Swedish fishing trawler about 30 miles off the Latvian coast.

A Swedish expert estimates from knowledge of normal drift in that sector that the plane probably went down about 63 miles from Latvia. Though all this evidence simply tends to confirm the probable fate of the plane, we must all be grateful to the alert seamen and fishermen in the Baltic who have helped to prove our case in the eyes of the world.

Business Arithmetic

CITIZENS who trouble to glance at the business pages must be puzzled when they read that steel mill operations in the Pittsburgh area for the current week are set at 102.4 per cent of capacity.

Just offhand, that sounds like the mills are going to produce more steel than they are capable of turning out. How come?

The answer, believe it or not, is that when the steel industry says "100 per cent of capacity" it doesn't mean it. Normally it figures that a certain part of its productive plant will always be undergoing repairs or shut down for some other reason. So it doesn't count this idle percentage in measuring capacity.

Under extreme pressure, companies may put off needed repairs and keep facilities going that ought to be idle. Thus they get output that exceeds the "100 per cent" usually rated as the ceiling in other statistics.

Wouldn't You Like to Know, Joe?

As Bernard Baruch Views Cold War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

TWICE in history just before a world war, Bernard M. Baruch tried to give some advice to the American people on what they should do to prepare for war. He has been giving some advice again in public speeches recently, so this correspondent wonders whether the elder statesman sees war in the offing.

"Is there an other world war?" he was asked.

"I don't know."

"Why don't you know?"

"Because nobody knows—certainly not the American people."

"Why don't they know?"

"Because they are not being given the information on which they can base a judgment and I doubt whether anyone in our government knows."

Mr. Baruch is convinced that the best way to avert a war is to prepare for it as if it were going to happen instantly. He wants a standby program on the statute books that can be put into operation at once. As he sees it, there is in effect now no over-all planning—no board of "peace strategy," which is but another phrase for cold war strategy.

THE chief point that Mr. Baruch makes is that the National Security Council today consists of too many in government who are too busy to give time and thought to the concept imbedded in the title. It comprises officials who are busy doing their regular jobs. He thinks membership on the council should not be a part-time affair but a full-time job and that the members should do nothing but study the problems of national security.

It isn't all a military problem but to a large extent economic. Thus, as Mr. Baruch views it, a board of strategy should have ready an industrial mobilization plan that is law before the shooting starts. He believes that along with this must go an enlargement of our general intelligence agencies which gather information from all parts of the world.

IS RUSSIA buying wool and in what quantities? How much rubber is she putting into her stockpile? What did she mean recently by her upward revaluation of the gold ruble? Did the United States sit by idly while Russia increased the purchasing power of her gold in certain places? Were there no countermeasures possible in the gold markets?

What about the forces that are causing inflation to rise in America and thus increase the cost of our preparedness program? Is Indo-China being handled properly by the allies? Why does Britain recognize Communist China while Aussralians talk of sending troops to fight communism in Southeast Asia?

These are only a few of the questions to which answers are important to the allied side, where apparently no unified program of strategy as yet exists.

Mr. Baruch concedes that some of these things might be in process of being taken care of but he will not feel that any real progress is being made toward prevention of war unless America is ready with an over-all program. He urged the same thing in 1939 to no avail.

LEADERS in government—congressional and military—frequently consult Mr. Baruch but at the moment he is not being consulted by the White House due to some political differences, though he is a lifelong Democrat. These differences seem unimportant in relation to the value of the experience which Mr. Baruch has had with international economic issues—and especially when even Republicans are being consulted. Asked what he could advise at this time other than the over-all board of strategy and the industrial mobilization plan—that is, what policies might be followed in the cold war—he said: "I just don't know. The facts we need in order to evaluate the whole situation simply do not appear to be available."

If Mr. Baruch doesn't know what's coming, it is a rather unusual position for him. His background and acuteness of judgment are very much needed in the councils of the government today—if only to evaluate the facts that are known only to government.

Hay Foot, Straw Foot

By TRUMAN TWILL

TAKE shoes. You can find out all you need to know about the other fellow by looking at his shoes.

This specimen, for example, is a perfectionist. Note the careful polishing job, obviously self-performed but every detail taken care of. Unfortunately, the guy has had a rough time making ends meet recently because the polish doesn't conceal the cracks in the leather, or the fact his shoes have been resoled frequently. But he's a bear for keeping up appearances. Lives in town—no signs of the country.

Here, on the other hand, is a fellow who obviously can afford the best but doesn't believe in making the most of it. His shoes are still new but there's nothing recent about the spots on them. Splashed by traffic, no doubt. Another town boy. No signs of the country.

Over there is a character who puts comfort first. Get the utilitarian design of those brogans—just like a middle-aged policeman's. No concession to style, but double emphasis on plenty of room for the toes. Still no signs of the country.

Next to him is a slap-dasher. The shoelaces don't match. Furthermore, they aren't even laced up the same way. On one shoe they're inserted one way, and on the other shoe they're inserted both ways—from the outside in and the inside out. Might be a commuter who almost missed the bus. But no sign of the country.

Here's a bird who never gets any exercise. Doesn't believe in walking anywhere that he can ride. His shoes are obviously well-worn but the wear is all on the uppers, from banging them against table legs. The heels and soles are in prime condition. Obviously an apartment dweller.

If this bird made a point of traveling under his own steam his shoes would look like those—the ones with the run-over heels and the battered soles. There's a fellow who likes to see things for himself. But on sidewalks—no sign of the country.

But, here, according to the signs is a gent who lives in the country. Makes a practice of going on tour with the same footwear he uses for appearance in polite society.

The whitish cast on the soles is from over-exposure to water. Note the way the soles have curled up as they dried. Not the wisp of straw caught in the crack between the rubber heel and the heel base.

Get a load of the chicken feather laced up in the left shoe and the Spanish needle lodged in the eyelet of the right shoe. Mark the yellow clay on the toes and the suspicious-looking smudge on the instep.

As a matter of fact, this fellow himself has noted these things and is wondering what to do about them, because it has dawned on him that from time immemorial other people have made fun of the general appearance of shoes worn by ruralites.

He thinks he may have to buy a pair of felt boots and not make his shoes do double duty any longer. Either that or he will have to remove all traces of the country from his shoes every time he comes to town. Every time he looks at them it's a shock.

Anyone here have a can of shoe polish and a brush handy? Any of you city slickers want to take pity on a fellow who now understands why farmers save their "Sunday" shoes for Sunday?

BIBLE QUOTATION

And that repentance and re-mission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem. —Luke 24:47.

Security Risks

By JAMES MARLOW

Status Of Government Workers Varies

THERE'S a difference between a disloyal government worker and one who's considered a security risk.

Disloyalty means just that. A security risk may be completely loyal but still be a danger to the national safety.

In some cases both are handled the same way by the government: Both are fired. In others, the security risk can keep a government job.

On disloyalty the lines are sharp and clear. Under the President's loyalty program every person considered disloyal is to be fired. He may be considered disloyal if he's a member of the Communist party or if he belongs to organizations called subversive by the attorney general.

But the lines are neither sharp nor simple on a security risk. There is no single rule throughout the government for handling such a case.

In one agency a man might be classed as a security risk. The same man in another government agency might not be considered a risk at all.

WHAT HAPPENS to a man labeled a security risk depends on the kind of government agency in which he works. For example: State Department officials say they act in the belief that everything which the department handles involves national safety, or security.

So in that agency, they say, every job is considered "sensitive," more or less. That is: Now, or sometime, it may involve national safety.

It's a little different in the Commerce Department. Some, but not all, of its work involves national security. Some jobs are "sensitive," come are "non-sensitive."

Now look at what a security risk is and what may happen to him, depending on the agency where he works:

1. Jones, completely loyal, is a good worker, sober on the job. But at night, sometimes or often, he gets drunk and talks too much.

In the non-sensitive Agriculture Department that might not make much difference, as long as Jones did his work and kept out of trouble when drunk.

In the Commerce Department, if Jones held a sensitive job, he might be considered a security risk: He might blab secrets when drunk.

The Commerce Department could do one of two things: Fire Jones on the grounds that he was "unsuitable" for government work; or transfer him to a non-sensitive job.

Say State Department officials but that if Jones worked there and was considered a security risk, he'd be fired.

(They say emphatically they keep no known security risks or disloyal persons on the payroll, although Senator McCarthy, Republican of Wisconsin, says the place is full of them.)

2. Smith is found to be a homosexual. He's completely loyal but because of his secret sex habits may some day run into an individual or group which would blackmail him.

In the State Department, he'd be considered a security risk and let out, officials there say.

Officials of other government agencies, sensitive and non-sensitive, told this writer they too would get rid of a homosexual on the grounds that he was "unsuitable" for government employment, not just because he was a security risk.

MANY OTHER examples of security risks could be given. For instance: Brown is loyal but his wife is related to a Communist.

In the State Department that might class him as a security risk. In the Commerce Department he might be moved to a non-sensitive job. In the Agriculture Department where there's practically no security problem, he might not be considered a risk at all.

A person whose agency wants to fire him because he's a security risk has no appeal outside the agency. Its decision is final.

It's different with a person considered disloyal. If his agency puts that label on him and fires him, he can appeal to the government's top group on loyalty: The President's loyalty review board.

If that board thinks he disloyal, he's finished. There's no other appeal. If the board clears him of disloyalty, he can be restored to his job or, if his agency wishes, to a less sensitive job.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Shrug Off Worries, Cure Insomnia

PEOPLE who live in cities and follow sedentary occupations are the ones most likely to complain of sleeping badly. Most insomnia is caused by inability to throw off worries and cares of the day time. The person who starts thinking of the office within a few minutes of turning off the light to develop chronic sleeplessness. The longer this goes on the worse it gets.

Many people who complain of insomnia sleep better than they think they do. They may be awake for short periods two or three times during the night, but really get all the sleep they need. Often they make things worse by worrying about not sleeping. This is unnecessary, as most people can get nearly as much rest for the bodily functions by lying quietly and relaxing in bed as they would if they were actually asleep.

With worry as the principal cause of insomnia, its management is apparent. Before going to bed some occupation which takes the person's attention away from the usual worries is desirable. This may take the form of reading some book to one's self, or aloud, preferably one which is rather dull. Other people may relax better if they do hand work of some kind.

The choice of pre-bedtime occupation should be made individually on the basis of personal likes and complete removal from the mental activity which is the major source of worry. Sometimes warm milk just before going to bed is relaxing. Most people can help by training themselves to relax their muscles.

Unfortunately a great number of people who complain of sleeplessness try various drugs. This tendency, to use drugs as an aid in getting to sleep is unwise. The sleep-producing drugs have their place, but most of them are habit forming if taken over long periods and after a while they do not even produce the sleep which is desired. Drugs are a poor substitute for healthy living.

Most people living in cities have at one time or another suffered from a certain amount of difficulty in sleeping. The fact that this difficulty is not present constantly with most of us shows that ordinary insomnia is not dangerous. It causes a lot of annoyance and interferes with a feeling of well-being and efficiency but no one ever dies merely by missing a few hours sleep.

So They Say

We are . . . determined that Communism shall not by hook or crook or trickery undermine our country or any other free country that desires to maintain its freedom.—Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

We'll run scared.—Democratic boss William Boyle, on 1950 elections.

The question of unemployment obviously will be one of the toughest problems we are going to face in the next couple of years.—Rep. John F. Kennedy, D., Massachusetts.

Today the chief threat in the world is undoubtedly that of Soviet expansion. This should not blind us, however, to the importance of looking closely at the situation in Germany to see what is happening there.—Sen. Harley Kilgore, D., West Virginia, on German Nationalism.

Tree Tragedy

By Hal Boyle

IT IS A SAD and stirring sight to see a great tree die.

It gives you a lonely feeling as if you were watching God or your father or something else you revered go down in solitary protest.

On a high hill here in the coastal mountain range I watched two sky reaching Douglas firs saved down within a half hour, and it was like seeing the death of old heroes.

Each had stood for a century or so before the white man came to blight these eternally rain-wet mountains with his wish for wood, his desire for shelter.

These tremendous fir trees (and they are tremendous) are strangely like American people: They are great advocates of free enterprise, they reach for the life giving security of the sun.

They will fight like unholly devils for sunshine, which to them is wealth and prosperity. They will grow like mad to get it. But if they lose it they sicken and give up. They simply won't live in another tree's shade as the Hyene hemlock is glad to do.

BUT THE ONES that win out in this competitive grasp for solar prosperity, the ones that crowd out the weaker trees, are more beautiful than fair women, more towering than strong men.

Some have grown for 400 years or more and shoot 250 to 300 feet into the air in green needled splendor, proof that standing still can be as heightening sometimes as travel is supposed to be broadening.

Well, there they stood the two trees I am talking about, two trees wet at the foot and dry at the top, two trees in a virgin forest, and both as old as Shakespeare, and both still living. And three men came and assaulted them as I watched, a guest in the lumber camp. The men who cut down the two trees were paid $25 to $30 a day to do so. They wore metal helmets like nature was at war with them, as it was.

Two men carrying a portable power saw approached the trees and made incisions as precise as a surgeon performing an appendectomy. Then the third man had to get down to the decisive muscle, the thing man always has to return to.

He took an ax and made a deep niche in the saw scar behind the tree in the way the tree to fall, that is, he was the west wind if they wanted the tree to fall east. He put a wedge in the west wound, and by sledge blows he drove it in with the force of pointed steel and flexing flesh. This tiny 6 foot figure at the base told the great tree the direction in which it must die.

THERE WAS A sudden crack, a shudder clear through the tall stem, and then it began to fall. It went down with a whispering surprise, a show of broken greenery, and came to earth with a great and final groan. It shook any listening heart. Loggers ran for shelter for the flying branches thrown off by a falling tree are known to them as "widow makers." They can telescope a skull.

An odd thing about these men who make their living out of killing trees—their defense is that on slain Douglas fir can make a six room house—is the feeling they have for what they destroy. They get a kind of forest guilt complex.

"I guess nothing in the world that has lived so long is killed so quick," a lumber camp superintendent said. He knew that with all his weapons for survival he wouldn't live as long as the thing he men cut down.

But there is one difference between the death of men and trees. A big tree dies with more dignity, sighing in a forest, than men do gasping in a hospital. (AP News Features)

Firms Cooperate In Work Project

Denison Students Get Summer Jobs

GRANVILLE, May 2—(AP)—The Denison University business council, formed last December to give students a taste of the working world while still in school, today is an active organization.

Dr. Robert E. Nixon, director of vocational services at the University and Council secretary, said today that 12 business concerns have agreed to give summer jobs to from one to three Denison students, mostly Sophomores.

One firm, he said, already is employing a student part time. The concerns are:

Cleveland Graphite Bronze Co., Thompson Products, and Warner & Swasey of Cleveland; Procter & Gamble of Cincinnati; the National Cash Register Co. and Rike-Kumler (department store) of Dayton; Lasalle & Koch (department store) of Toledo the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp. and the Park National Bank of Newark, the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., Central Ohio Paper Co., and Columbus Coated Fabrics Co., Columbus.

At the end of the summer employment, Dr. Nixon said, each student will make a written report of his experience, for the college and the firm. In turn, the concern will make a report on the student, for the college and the student.

The business council met yesterday to approve plans for the summer work program. Members also agreed to refer to other firms in their areas students seeking work, if they have no jobs to offer.

Last month job counselors from business houses conducted a clinic at Denison. There probably will be a similar clinic next fall, it was announced.

The Council also plans field trips for students to possible places of employment.

Soft Goods Sales Dip, Others Increase

CLEVELAND, May 2—(INS)—The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland reported today that sales of soft goods have been slipping noticeably while sales of hard goods have been picking up in recent months.

The bank's monthly Business Review declared that the divergent trends in soft and hard-goods sales is not likely to be of long duration.

The most important question, the Review continued, is whether the spread will be closed by an improvement in soft goods or a decline in hard goods sales.

In three of four selected apparel departments, sales are no higher than the low spot of last year and in a fourth department, women's dresses, new lows are being reached, the bank stated.

In hard goods, furniture appears to have turned a corner last fall, according to The Review, and since then sales have probably reached or passed the former post-war peak. The Review added:

"Sales of television sets climbed rapidly during 1949, marking the most spectacularly favorable performance of any line. In February, such sales more than tripled those of the corresponding period last year, while in March sales were 160 percent above the year-ago level."

Total department store sales in the fourth district began to wane in the final quarter of 1948 and the decline continued at a slow rate for about a year. The revival in hard goods has a slight effect on the total since such goods customarily make up only 20 to 25 percent of department store sales.

Science has found a way to tenderize beef in 44 hours, 11½ times faster than aging steaks, roasts, and other cuts under customary refrigeration.

Soil Preparation Is Key to Success

By Arnold M. Davis

YOUR GARDEN

YOU can't bake a prize cake with poor ingredients and it's just about as difficult to have a successful garden without proper preparation of the soil. So here are some tips learned in long years of experience. The first step—spading up the ground—sounds simple. But there's a right way and many wrong ways to do it: First, spade DEEPLY, using a straight-edged spade or fork. A pointed spade leaves scalloped depressions in the ground, where water collects. Second, spade systematically in straight lines, rather than haphazardly. Avoid turning the soil over completely. Old grass or weeds thus turned under form a layer of "insulation" that prevents new plant roots from getting food from the soil beneath them. Turn your soil over at an angle of about 45 degrees. After thorough spading, your ground should have a good dose of organic fertilizing material. This can be manure, compost or peat moss. Whichever you use, work it in well. Besides enriching the soil the fertilizer helps break up the lumps, which interfere with root growth. If you are working on a bed for flowers or vegetables, avoid packing a solid layer of organic material on the bottom of the bed. Next step in preparing your ground is to apply a top dressing of some complete chemical fertilizer, such as 4-12-4; 4-8-7; 5-8-7 or 5-10-10. Consult your garden supply dealer on this, as soil requirements differ in various areas. Chemical fertilizer can generally be applied at the rate of five pounds to 100 square feet of garden area. A little goes a long way. Finally, rake over newly spaded areas to eliminate roots, stones, air pockets and to provide a good, smooth seed bed for the germination and growth of your plants. You'll get the pay-off on all this preliminary work later in the season.

Put Dad on Baby-Feeding Team

THIS LITTLE FELLOW knows that Dad is on his side, when it comes to providing good food and affection.

FATHERS are no longer "displaced persons" in the baby world. Young GIs played a big part in establishing today's 50-50 parental relationship in their joy at returning to normal family life. They wanted to share the fun as well as the extra work of parenthood.

"A woman owes it to her husband to give him a place in the business of child care right from the beginning. The more he can do comfortably for the baby, the more he will love the baby, hence the sooner he will feel right about having a third person around," according to "Living With Baby," a practical bulletin published by the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell University.

When possible adjust baby's schedule to father's hours, so that he can romp with his youngster.

In many households, Dad gives baby his evening meal, relieving mother for preparation of the family food. Entering into this new program are the many convenient strained foods which even the tired business man can open and serve.

Here's a little nutritional cocktail any dad can prepare for his young hopeful while mother is busy getting dinner.

Tomato-Strained Meat Cocktail
(1 large serving)

One cup tomato juice, chilled.
½ can strained meat (liver, veal or beef) 1 teaspoon lemon juice, salt to taste, or in keeping with diet.

Blend ingredients and serve cold or serve heated as a soup.

Benefits Of Seaway Claimed At Hearing

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—The proposed St. Lawrence Seaway would open up a new vast iron ore supply for Midwestern steel mills, a Middletown, O., steel executive said yesterday.

W. W. Sebald, president of Armco Steel Corp., Middletown, testified before the House public works committee. A bill to authorize the seaway and a power project is being considered.

Sebald said: "We all know what the Mesabi iron ore range has meant to this country's peacetime growth, and how vital it has been in times of war."

"The proposed Seaway, in effect, moves another Mesabi into this country."

Earlier, George M. Humphrey, president of the M. A. Hanna Co., Cleveland, told of iron ore deposits found in Labrador. He said geologists can prove 350,000 tons of high-grade ore are there.

Norman W. Foy, general manager of sales for Republic Steel Corp., told the committee that if the ore is "more readily available at a lower cost on or near the Eastern seaboard, the steel industry, as it expands or replaces its units, will expand or replace near the Eastern seaboard.

"Over a period of years the Great Lakes states will find themselves denuded of steel capacity and jobs will be seriously and drastically reduced."

'Assignment: America'

By INEZ ROBB

HISTORY is made so rapidly in this century that the fifth anniversary of Hitler's demise (April 30) sneaked up on me unawares. Anyway, it is not one of those events that call for a cake and candles.

But it did set me wondering how many more years must elapse before Hollywood can film his life story. That life is raw meat for the cinema. But it will probably have to await an audience without such bitter memories as you and I.

However, if Hollywood ever toys with a remake of "The Bride of Dracula," it might tell a good bit of the Hitler story by simply filming the life of Eva Braun, his shotgun bride, under that title.

(The Russians, battering Berlin at the time, were on the other end of the gun and, for once, ought to be credited with an assist, if only for making an honest woman of Eva.)

Any footnotes I can add to Eva's story are second-hand, having been gathered through the years from Pete (Pierre) Huss, now I.N.S. chief at the United Nations, former head of its Berlin bureau until World War II and war correspondent in Germany before and after V-E day.

PETE, WHO IS an expert on the life and times of both Eva and Hitler, says Eva was more frustrated than any soap opera heroine, which should be tops in the Kinsey report. From the moment she met Hitler in 1929, she made up her mind to marry the then not-so-successful rabble-rouser.

It took her sixteen years to turn the trick. And ninety minutes after she became Frau Adolf Hitler at 2 a. m. on April 30, 1945, her bridegroom had blown his top with a gun and she was dead of poison.

Eva was a middle-class Munich girl with marriage on her mind from the moment she met Adolf.

Hitler was so attracted by Eva from the first she was, incidentally, the cause of the great international scandal that plagued his early political years, Pete believes.

Jealousy of Eva caused Angela ("Jellie") Raubal, daughter of Hitler's half-sister, to commit suicide in Hitler's apartment in Munich on Christmas Eve, 1931, less than two years after he had met Eva.

So strongly was Adolf attracted to Angela and so affected by her death that he locked the door of the room in which she shot herself to death. It was opened only each Christmas eve by Hitler. When Pete raced into Munich and Hitler's apartment after the fall of Germany, he found that room still locked as it had been for years.

But Angela was not the only woman who threatened Eva's hold on Hitler. There were many others.

Not only did Eva have to worry about other women, but Hitler

SATISFACTION IS THEIR REWARD

BIGGEST ASSIGNMENT in the history of Ohio's Wilmington college—building of a $200,000, 85-man dormitory—has been completed by students and faculty members. Confronted two years ago by the fact that the only way they could get the much-needed dormitory was to try and build it themselves, the college family volunteered to go ahead with the project, with no reward other than satisfaction of having done the job themselves. Spurred by this spirit, more than 120 industries contributed much of the material for the building, to match the 20,000 hours of voluntary labor.

Increase In Gas Rates Being Studied

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP)—A power commission examiner today is taking under advisement the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.'s request for an increase in its wholesale rates.

The findings of the examiner, Ewing G. Swimpson, will be subject to a review by the power commission. Arguments in the rate case ended yesterday. A decision may be forthcoming within a month.

Attorneys from two Ohio cities, Cincinnati and Dayton, asked the wholesale rate boost be denied. Ohio Fuel originally asked a rate boost that would bring in $1,022,000 additional revenue annually. It was granted provisionally.

Subsequently the demand was scaled down to $890,000 in additional revenue yearly.

Robert J. White, Cincinnati, declared the increase would not be justified. M. J. Gilbert, Dayton, argued a rate cut might be more in line.

Some 24 companies directly serving Ohio Gas consumers purchase the fuel from Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

White said it was "a strange and unusual thing" that lawyers from the 24 companies were not present yesterday.

was not a fast man with a mark. Even after he came to power in 1933, Eva kept on supporting herself as secretary to Heine Hoffmann, the Munich photographer through whom she met Adolf.

FINALLY, IN 1935 Hitler decided he could support his mistress and she quit her job. But she had already begun to drink heavily.

Eva had a friend in Frau Josef Goebbels, who cajoled Hitler into buying a 12-room house in Munich for Eva, and even a few pieces of jewelry.

Hess befriended her. As she drank more and more heavily and got into drunken quarrels with Adolf, it was Hess who often made peace between them.

But the woman who dreamed of being a second Mme. Pompadour or another Lady Hamilton, never got to first base in either role. Hitler seldom allowed her in Berlin and she never mixed in politics. Once, Pete says, she asked Adolf to spirit her half-Jewish brother-in-law to safety in Switzerland, and he complied.

Never until the final year of the war, 1944-45, did Hitler ever speak of marriage to Eva, the latter's sister told Pete in Munich five years ago. Then Hitler promised Eva they would be married as soon as the war was over.

It was one promise he kept—for ninety minutes.

400 Attend Meeting Of Mennonite Board

COLUMBIANA, May 2—About 400 were in attendance at the 31st annual meeting of the Ohio Mennonite Mission Board at Midway Mennonite Church, north of Columbiana on Route 46, which concluded Saturday after three days of sessions.

The area of the mission board embraces both Ohio and Pennsylvania. The date and place of the next meeting are decided by the executive committee.

Sessions Saturday morning and afternoon were of a business nature, with the annual meeting of the Ohio Mennonite Women's and Girls' Missionary and Sewing Circles in the church basement at the same time. The circles spent most of the day sewing for relief work.

The president of the board, Rev. M. L. Troyer of Elida, O., and the treasurer, C. D. Kauffman, West Liberty, O., were elected last year for two years. Officers elected this year for two years were the vice president, Walter Stucky, West Union, O., and the secretary, Oswin Gerber, Orrville.

Officers elected by the women's circles were: President, Miss Orpha Troyer, Walnut Creek, O.; vice president, Mrs. Jesse Short, Archbold, O.; treasurer, Miss Elsie Yoder, Kent; secretary of literature, Mrs. J. J. Hostetler, Canton; secretary of girls' work, Mrs. George Amstutz, Kidron, O.

James Henry Hackett, who made his English debut on April 5, 1827, at Covent Garden, London, England, was the first American actor to appear abroad.

Mile Relay Decides Issue; Salem Edged By 63-55 Count

Giving an improved performance on one of the few nice afternoons of the spring, the Salem High track team nevertheless lost their second dual track meet of the year Monday. The nod went to Youngstown Rayen 63-55 at Reilly field.

The Quakers hung in the meet until the final event, the mile relay. Even then they led for three laps of the four lap race, losing to a zippy Rayen anchorman.

Salem took seven firsts in the meet's 14 events, but didn't pile up enough seconds to outscore their rivals. Again, they suffered from lack of a competent sprinter, losing 14 points in the 100 and 220.

Paul Provins grabbed the mile with an effort slightly over five minutes, Ford Joseph took the shot put and Jim Hurlburt won easily in the low hurdles. Bruce Fredricks put some kick into his final broad jump, taking that event with a leap of 19 feet nine inches.

Johnny Votaw was Salem's only double winner, with victories in the 440 and pole vault. He shared first in the latter with two other men, including his brother, Ed. Jay England, uncorked his best discus throw of the season, a heave of 134 feet, four inches.

The Quakers were without their coach Frank Tarr Monday. ill of the flu, Tarr's duties were handled by Fred Cope.

Wakefield On Spot; Play Or Quit Game

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox appear to be stuck with or without Dick Wakefield.

Well-informed baseball men insisted today that Wakefield, traded by the New York Yankees to Chicago last Friday, is the property of the Chicago White Sox. He must either report to the Sox or quit baseball.

The decision on Wakefield's status is expected to be made by Commissioner A. B. Chandler within the next few days. Chandler thus far has been unavailable for comment. However, Walter Mulbry, his secretary, said that papers involving the trade had not yet been received and no statement would be made until they had arrived.

On the surface, deciding which club is to have the privilege of paying Wakefield's salary checks in the future appears a routine piece of legislation. But it is much more than that.

On Chandler's decision may hang the fate of all future player trades and sales between big league clubs. The ruling not only will affect Wakefield and the two teams involved, but it will have a distinct bearing on all future transactions involving assignment of a player or players from one club to another.

ATTENDANCE DOWN

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Average major league baseball attendance, hampered by rain and cold weather, has dipped 20 per cent from last year.

In 70 games, the majors have drawn 1,130,565. At the same time last season, they had attracted 1,728,534 for 94 games. That makes the average 14,724 for 1950 compared to 18,389 for last season—a 20 percent drop.

WINS VALLOS

YOUNGSTOWN, May 2 (IN S)—George Hunt of Canton captured top honors at the 10-week-long $15,000 George Vallos bowling tourney with 1,315 yesterday in Youngstown. He took home the $1,000 first prize for the score bowled April 15.

Only five pins behind Hunt was Junie McMahon of Chicago. Harry Lippe, also of Chicago, came in third with 1,304.

Eddie Sukowski produced one eastern and one national collegiate title-holder in his first season as Penn State boxing coach.

Michigan State was given its Spartan nickname by George Alderton, veteran sports editor of the hometown Lansing State Journal.

Control, Health Feller's Recipe

Says He Hopes To Win 20 Games; Lou Silent

CLEVELAND, May 2 (AP)—What's behind Bob Feller's striking return to form in his two starts for Cleveland's Indians this season?

Better control and freedom from injuries. "That's 99 per cent of it," says Bob.

The big righthander, in an interview last night before the Tribe left for the east, also said he has been "pretty lucky in getting good breaks."

Feller won both of his two starts with polished performances. He pitched a five-hitter against St. Louis on April 22 and scattered eight blows in beating Detroit last Friday.

In 1949 he didn't win his second game until June 14, when he also had six losses tied to his record. He ended that year with 15 wins and 14 losses and many of the fans said this year might be his last in baseball.

The former strikeout king now takes a strictly matter-of-fact viewpoint on his pitching.

"I've broken all the records I ever hope to break," he said. "I'm not out to set the world on fire this year. I just hope I can be a good pitcher and help the club win the pennant."

He also thinks it's pretty early in the season to be talking about how good or how bad he is. But he is willing to discuss some of the contributing factors.

LAST YEAR and the year before a sore shoulder bothered him well into the season. In 1947, when he began to go down, he slipped off the mound in Philadelphia and hurt his back and a rib.

This year he worked under wraps in spring training and got cuffed around pretty badly. But he came out without any injuries, as he intended.

"My arm isn't as strong as it was 10 years ago, but my control is better than it has been," Feller pointed out. "I'm concentrating more and I think this has helped my control."

"When your shoulder is hurting on every pitch, it's pretty hard to concentrate."

He won't make any prediction on how many games he may win this season, however. The closest he will come is:

"I hope to win 20 games and have a good year."

Lou Boudreau, the Indians' manager and Feller's champion in his good and bad years, wants no part in the discussion.

Probably because he doesn't want to run the risk of putting the whammy on the 31-year-old pitcher, Boudreau ventures only one sentence for the record:

"I am hopeful his good performance will continue throughout the season." Amen.

LaMotta's Crown Challenged By Two

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Boxing circles buzzed with new activity today, most of it centering around middleweight champion Jake LaMotta's rusting crown.

Al Weill, matchmaker of the International Boxing Club, said he planned a series of conferences in his lush quarters that may set up a 160-pound title fight for late May or early June.

He said the talks would deal mainly with matching LaMotta against either Laurent Dauthuille, the new pride of France, or Sugar Ray Robinson, the welterweight king who wants to move up a notch.

Both Dauthuille and Robinson made menacing gestures last night in the direction of the Bronx belt, who hasn't defended his title since he won it from the late Marcel Cerdan last June.

Dauthuille battered Steve Belois, veteran New York contender, into submission in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-rounder at Montreal.

Robinson meanwhile, announced through a spokesman that he would appear before the New York State Athletic Commission Friday to post a $2,000 forfeit bond as a formal challenge to LaMotta.

Julian, who recently promoted a mat card at the Memorial building featuring Lord Blears of England, is planning another match here on May 17.

You Can't Start Too Young At Golf; Any Age Will Do

By DAVE BAUER
Father and teacher of the famous sisters.

WHAT is the right age to start a youngster in golf?

This question has probably been put up to me more than any other single inquiry. Wherever I go, all I hear from interested parents is: "Is my child old enough to begin now? Should he or she wait a few more years?"

I tell them to start them as young as possible. The age of three is not even too early. My own daughter, Marlene, for example, started at three. I've started several other youngsters at from three to 10.

Playing golf or any other game should be no different for a youngster than any childhood pastime.

A little boy can be taught to play with a little brassie, driver or spoon instead of a toy machine gun. A miniature club can replace a doll in a little girl's hands.

Make the club your youngster's favorite toy.

It isn't long before the child likes it very much.

It is just a matter of education. Now and then a nonpulsed parent brings up the point that his child is not taking to the game as quickly as he should.

Frequently they tell me that the child doesn't even like the game.

"Don't you think, Mr. Bauer, that it is wrong to force them?" they ask.

I know that those are just weak excuses.

Anyone is capable of teaching a child a game, and should be able to teach them to like it.

Child psychology could be the answer. Anything that will create interest enough to make the

The biggest job is making the child fond of the game.

And that requires only a little extra effort on the part of the parent.

does not land with the Red Sox. Joe McCarthy's players have yet to kill the order barring baseball writers from their clubhouse at any time before a game, and for 30 minutes after one. A New York writer was heaved out of the Boston Americans' dressing room at Yankee Stadium.

Birdie Tebbetts suffered a broken little finger on his throwing hand a week before the season started. Not having him behind the bat operated against the Sox considerably.

Tebbetts wanted to ignore the fracture and catch. But Manager McCarthy believes that all the talk about the Spartan fortitude of the Old Orioles, who are supposed to have stuck busted digits into the dirt and gone right on playing, is plain legend.

"Catching with the handicap of a broken finger is painful," points out Johnny Schulte, one of Marjoe's aides. "Just try it."

Schulte presents a bunch of mis-shapen fingers.

"It was lots tougher catching with those old pillows," he says. "The ball bounced out of them with too much ease."

GOSSIPERS INSIST that Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark of the Giants no longer are Damon and Pythias.

Shortstop Dark is supposed to resent inferences that he needs Second Baseman Muggsy's guiding hand.

After winning three in a row, it seemed that Frank Frisch decided to play no more games. The Cubs certainly are not going to be in first place Oct. 1, but Uncle Fritz aspired to hold that position on May 1, once traditional moving day.

Connie Mack's bench is hardly first division stuff.

Barney McCosky, a spine disc case, is not likely to continue in the Athletics' lineup when the soft turf bakes out.

Although the Braves optioned Bob Addis to Milwaukee, he is not labelled a Branch Rickey lemon. He is expected to make the Boston Nationals' outfield next year.

St. Louis says Danny Gardella, whom the Cardinals shipped to Houston, is likely to find things too hot in the Texas League.

DIVIDE CAGE LOOP

NEW YORK, May 2 (INS)—The 12-team National Basketball Association will be divided into an eastern and western division.

NBA President Maurice Podoloff announced the division yesterday and said that each team in the new setup would play 66 games.

The eastern division consists of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Syracuse. Chicago, Tri-Cities, Minneapolis, Fort Wayne, Rochester and Indianapolis make up the western group.

Jim Gehrdes, of Altoona, Pa., is captaining the Penn State track and field team in his last season as a collegiate hurdler.

Garcia Hooks Up With McDermott In Boston

BOSTON, May 2—(AP)—Cleveland's Indians begin their first eastern swing of the season today by tackling the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series.

Mike Garcia was selected to face southpaw Maurice McDermott of the Sox today, and Bob Feller was a tentative starter for the Tribe tomorrow.

The Indians are at full strength for the 10-game eastern tour with the exception of second-string outfielder Allie Clark who will miss the series here because of a charley horse.

The Red Sox first baseman, Billy Goodman, will be out of action against the Tribe because of an ankle injury he received yesterday. The Sox have called up Walter Dropo from Louisville to replace Goodman.

The Philadelphia Athletics this season have five men who were with other big league teams last fall—Bob Dillinger, Ed Klieban, Joe Tipton, Billy Hitchcock and Paul Lehner.

State To Maintain 'Slot' Storeroom

COLUMBUS, May 2—(AP)—The State Board of Liquor Control will maintain its own storeroom for slot machines seized as evidence at board hearings, it was learned yesterday.

The board is setting up a place on the second floor of its quarters here for the storeroom. Anthony A. Rutkowski, chief liquor enforcement officer, previously had had sole custody of seized machines. He kept them in a basement storeroom and a count last week showed 431 there.

But Rutkowski and the board have been at odds over disposition of the money in the machines. And Board Chairman Frank M. Krebs has announced a new policy on the slots as regards their being used as evidence.

From now on, said Krebs, the slots must be brought into the board's hearing room and introduced as evidence. This will take them out of Rutkowski's hands and into the board custody. After the hearings, they'll be kept in the board's storeroom.

In the past, liquor investigators merely testified they had seized slots on the premises of permit holders and that the slots were in the basement. They were rarely brought up to the hearing room.

But the board chairman said the new procedure would be "more judicial." He said it might prevent appeals from board decisions on the technicality the board did not view the evidence.

Federal Sale Of Slot Machines Postponed

IRONTON, May 2—(AP)—Sale of 132 slot machines by the federal government was postponed here yesterday by E. F. Brown, Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue.

The slots were among property seized from owners of the Colonial Inn restaurant for non-payment of income taxes, Brown said, and were to be sold within 30 days. Brown did not say why the sale was called off.

Last week, Anthony A. Rutkowski, chief enforcement agent of the state liquor department, said he was shocked to learn the federal government was going to sell the slots in Ohio. He heard the news the same day he was planning to destroy 200 slots seized in state raids.

Rescue Crews Seek 2 Lake Fishermen

CLEVELAND, May 2—(AP)—By plane and cutter Coast Guardsmen searched Lake Superior waters east of Keweenaw peninsula today for two fishermen who abandoned their burning 40-foot vessel.

A Coast Guard report said the steel-hulled Victory was discovered adrift and still burning last night and towed ashore by the Miss Traverse. The interior of the craft had been gutted by flames which still burned after the craft was beached in Houghton county near Traverse Point.

Fish net boxes laced together indicated an attempt to make a crude raft, the Coast Guard headquarters here said.

Soon after receiving the report the Coast Guard dispatched a PBY plane from Traverse City, Mich., and the Coast Guard cutter Sundew from Marquette, Mich. to the scene.

Flash Fire Sweeps Weirton Steel Co.

WEIRTON, W. Va., May 2—(AP)—A flash fire swept through the Weirton Steel Co.'s four electrolytic tin plating lines early today.

Each of the lines cost around $1,000,000 to build but the company thought it would get the first one operating again in a few days.

Some firemen said damages might run more than $100,000. Weirton is a pioneer in electrolytic tin plating, and the 600-foot line that caught fire today was the biggest in the world.

John A. Jones, who is in charge of publications for Weirton Steel, said oil in the hydraulic system of the line ignited.

About 1,800 employees will be out of work until the lines in the huge mill are repaired.

Court because part of the record of the case heard before McCarthy was missing when an appeal was taken to the higher court.

Evjue said McCarthy had launched his charges of communism in government "to rehabilitate his shattered political fortunes."

Today Lattimore told the investigating committee it need go no further "than the undisputed facts—you need go no further than the charges, which are not supported by a shred of evidence, perjured or otherwise, to establish that the Senator libeled me."

Lattimore has threatened to sue McCarthy for libel and has dared him to repeat — without protection of senatorial immunity — the charges McCarthy made in Congress. So far McCarthy has refused to repeat his main accusations under those circumstances.

McCarthy has charged that Lattimore is the principal architect of American Far Eastern policy.
